

Queen's Award for Voluntary Service

Heckington Windmill Trust has been awarded the Queen's Award for Voluntary Service.

It is the highest award given to local volunteer groups across the UK to recognise outstanding work done in their own communities. Created in 2002 to celebrate the anniversary of The Queen's coronation, it is the MBE for volunteer groups. It is a tremendous recognition of the truly exceptional dedication and service of the whole of the Heckington Windmill team and a tremendous honour for us all.

The nomination was full of praise for the Trust, describing us as "hugely impressive as a voluntary organisation...making an excellent job of caring for a very special part of the nation's heritage" and "providing inspiration and lessons to other voluntary groups"

Members of the Trust Charles Pinchbeck, Jo Lewin and Mike Hardy (along with Sarah Grant the Heckington Show General Secretary) attended the Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace on 31st May.

A signed certificate from Her Majesty The Queen and an English Crystal with the logo insignia will be presented by Her Majesty's Lord Lieutenant for Lincolnshire at a date to be announced.

May I add my own appreciation for all that you do to at the Windmill making it such a special part of our community and indeed our British way of life.
